Executive MA in Public Policy

> One Year Program

- Courses vary in the method of instruction including classroom lecture, class discussion, lab session or an interactive seminars depending on the nature of the course
- Participants select their area of concentration at the time of admission
- Each participant based on his/her selected concentration would be assigned a faculty advisor, who will guide the participant in research thesis.
- Participants have the opportunity to attend various policy seminars, workshops and conferences organized by CPPPG

- * Students select one of the following two Concentrations:
- 1) Governance, Democracy and Institution Building (GDIB)
  - 2) Environment, Demography and Urban Change (EDUC)

The Program – First of its Kind in Pakistan

The Centre for Public Policy and Governance (CPPG), FC College (A Chartered University) plans to offer an inter-disciplinary and analytical degree program in Public Policy. Initially planned as an advanced degree in social sciences, the program would impart theoretical grounding and problem solving skills in two concentration areas:

- 1) Governance, Democracy and Institution Building (GDIB)
- 2) Environment, Demography and Urban Change (EDUC)

Innovatively designed to cater to professional needs of mid-career leaders in the public, non-profit and private sectors, the program integrates domestic requirements, philosophical dimensions and futuristic vision to promote leadership qualities, inculcate ethical aspects and develop analytical expertise in formulating citizen friendly policies and in providing efficient and transparent governance.

Program Highlights

- Skills-based Curriculum that blends theoretical, skills specific and real life experiences into an integrated module.
- Diverse & Applied Nature of the program encourages participants to discuss and debate their experiences, innovative ideas and vision. A research thesis under active faculty guidance on an actionable policy issue provides the opportunity to develop a policy paper to re-design public policy and influence the policy process of your interest and passion.
- A Motivational instructional method develops Leadership Skills empowered to combine professional skills with natural instincts to excel and lead.
- Driven by the logic of Technological Change, implying the future of any organization – public, private or non-profit would be affected by technology. The Current trends in information technology and their possible usage to further policy objectives would be explored.

Career Prospects

Upon completion of the degree, the graduates will be able to enhance and consolidate their careers in numerous arenas including potential experts of a specific or set of public policies, program coordinators for provincial and local governments, inter-agency managers, data and policy analysts, and government liaison managers for private businesses. The program aims to sharpen the skills and knowledge of program participants bringing change in attitude, orientation and leadership qualities.

Admission Requirements

The diversity of participants from varied academic and professional backgrounds will be the strength of the program. The CPPG will assess all qualified candidates and assign a pre-term guide to bring participants up to a required level in subject area of concern. A prospective participant has to fulfil the following criteria to apply for the program:

- At least 4 years of work experience (Public/Non-profit/Private sectors)
- Minimum 16 years of education from a HEC-recognized institution
- Complete and submit an application form
- Attested copies of degrees and certificates
- Standardized test score (GRE/GMAT/NTS-GAT/CPPG devised)

Following consideration of the above, the admission's committee will conduct interviews of short-listed candidates for final selection.
